Lesson - 2

Loud reading -

Once upon a time there lived a Little Red Hen and her small chicks. They all lived in a tiny cottage. The chicks looked like soft, golden balls.

The Little Red Hen worked very hard to feed her little chicks. She liked to sing and dance as she worked.

One day, the Little Red Hen was out walking with her friends, the Lamb, and Goose and the cat. While they were walking and talking, she found a few grains of wheat. She asked, 'Who will help me plant these grains?'

'Not I,' said the Lamb.

'Not I,' said the Goose.

'Not I,' said the Cat.

The Little Red Hen looked at the grains of wheat. Then she looked at her friends and said, 'very well, I shall plant these myself.' She said. And she did just that.

Early one morning, the Little Red Hen went out to see where she had planted the wheat. She saw tiny green spots sprouting coming out of the ground.
